USAF flyover to mark 57th

U.S. Air Force students and faculty assigned to the Naval War College will celebrate the service's 57th anniversary on Thursday, Sept. 16, at noon on Colbert Plaza.

Rear Adm. Jacob Shuford, President of the college, and Col. Roger H. Ducey III, the senior Air Force adviser to the college, are scheduled to speak.

"The Air Force is a vital component of America's joint combat team that has taken the fight to the enemy across the globe and assisted humanitarian operations whenever and wherever needed," said Rear Adm. Shuford, when asked about the event's significance.

Col. Ducey said, "It seems fitting that we, the Air Force faculty and students at the Naval War College, commemorate the day in the company of our sister services. It is only through the joint efforts of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force and Coast Guard that we have the freedoms and security we enjoy today."

Aircraft expected to participate in the flyover include F-15 Eagles.

Cake and beverages will be served immediately after the ceremony and all Naval War College staff, faculty and students are invited to attend. In case of rain, the ceremony will be held in Spruance Hall lobby.

The National Security Act formally established the Air Force on Sept. 18, 1947.

U.S. air power history actually began in 1907 with the assignment of an aviation section to the Army Signal Corps and matured into the famed Army Air Corps of World War II.

The public is encouraged to observe the flyover from vantage points throughout Newport and Jamestown.

Jewish faithful will observe high holy days

Over the next few weeks, Jewish Sailors and Marines will celebrate their high holy days.

Rosh Hashanah, commemorating the beginning of the Jewish religious New Year, begins at sundown on Wednesday, Sept. 15.

Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, begins at sundown on Friday, Sept. 24. It is the holiest day of the year, characterized by fasting.

Sukkot, the Feast of Tabernacles, begins at sundown on Thursday, Sept. 30 and lasts for eight days. It is a time of thanksgiving and celebrating God's presence in creation and among the Jewish people.

The American pilgrims in Massachusetts used the biblical holiday of Sukkot as the inspiration for what we celebrate now as Thanksgiving.

As there are no Jewish services offered at the Chapel of Hope or other Navy chapels in the Northeast region, Jewish personnel and family members are encouraged to contact local temples and synagogues for specific worship activities and times.

The chapel will assist Jewish members. Call 841-2234.

NWC graduates 12 operational planners

The Naval War College will complete its sixth Naval Operational Planner Course (NOPC) with the graduation today of 12 officer students - eight Navy, one Army, one Marine Corps, and two Air Force.

The NOPC curriculum is 13 months long and provides officers in the ranks of lieutenant commander and major with planning knowledge and skills in advanced war-fighting for follow-on assignments to operational planner billets. This year's graduates were selected in the spring of 2003 and commenced NOPC studies in August 2003.

From August 2003 to June 2004, the students attended the Naval Command & Staff College, completing its three core courses: Strategy and Policy, Joint Maritime Operations, and National Security Decision Making. In addition, the 12

Navy involved in ceremonies noting Sept. 11

By JOY CHRISTMAS

NAVSTA Public Affairs Office

The Naval War College (NWC) will hold ceremonies today at noon at its Patriots Memorial in remembrance of 10 NWC students and alumni killed in the terrorist attack on the Pentagon on Sept. 11, 2001. All area commands are welcome to attend.

Rear Adm. Jacob Shuford, President of the college, will give remarks and lay a wreath at the memorial stone on the west side of McCarty-Little Hall. The Patriot Memorial was unveiled and dedicated to the victims in ceremonies in 2002.

The ceremony will also include songs by the Newport Navy Choristers, a prayer delivered by a Naval Station Newport chaplain, and the playing of Taps.

Naval Station (NAVSTA) Newport personnel and a color guard will attend and participate in another Patriot Day ceremony tomorrow at 6 p.m. at the Middletown VFW Post at 52 Underwood Lane. Names of firefighters and police personnel killed at the World Trade Center will be read, many who were military veterans.

The NAVSTA color guard will fold a ceremonial flag in honor of the victims. The public is invited.

In other remembrances Saturday, the Newport Historical Society will open the Great Friends Meeting House at 21 Farewell St. from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. for personal silent reflections.

Also this month, NAVSTA personnel will again join the Middletown VFW Post for POW/MIA Recognition Day on Sept. 17. The names of Rhode Island POWs and MIAs will be read. Ceremonies will begin at 7 p.m.

NUWC energy conservation recognized with 2 awards

The Naval Undersea Warfare Center Division, Newport has been selected for two energy conservation awards — the Secretary of the Navy (SECNAV) Energy Conservation Award in the Industrial Category (FY03), and the Department of Energy (DOE) 2004 Federal Energy and Water Management Award.

The SECNAV Energy Conservation Award recognizes the division's commitment to comprehensive conservation programs, well-trained energy teams, development and implementation of innovative energy conservation measures and consistent efforts in reducing energy consumption. One of the most significant accomplishments this year, supported by federal funding, has been the significant reduction in the Division's annual utility costs.

Contributing factors include changing fluorescent light bulbs and ballasts to a T-8 system, and switching the numerous building control systems to more efficient systems. In addition to the recognition received by this selection, the award will provide the Command with $35,000 of external funds to be used on additional energy conservation initiatives.

The 2004 Federal Energy and Water Management Award is the highest honor that the DOE bestows in the area of energy conservation. Division Newport was among this year's winners, selected by the DOE and a Federal Interagency Energy Policy Committee.

The outstanding conservation efforts by the Division's Facility Management personnel, helped garner this prestigious honor. Their hard work and dedication have placed Division Newport at the forefront of outstanding contributors who are helping to ensure that the DOE meets its very ambitious goals to reduce energy and water consumption and to promote renewable energy.

A message from Division Commander, Capt. John Mickey, and Technical Operations Manager Donald Aker, said that the recognition of these awards is something for all NUWC Division Newport employees to be proud of, the real value of which is the significant savings to the command, the fleet and the taxpayer.

Through these efforts, the Division has been able to reduce its energy costs over the last several years by almost $1 million annually.

Commissary rolls out pallets for case lot sale

BY BONNIE POWELL
Defense Commissary Agency

FORT LEE, Va. – The September “World’s Biggest Case Lot Sale” is just around the corner and the lines are forming up for savings. Commissary shoppers normally save an average of 30 percent or more by using their commissary benefit regularly, but case lot sale shoppers are willing to get up before dawn, stand in line and brave the elements – all for savings of up to 50 percent on popular paper goods, canned goods, cleaning products and much more.

The Case Lot Sale at the Naval Station Newport Commissary Store is scheduled for Sept. 16 to 18.

“During our last worldwide sale in May, customer savings topped over $5 million on more than one million cases of product,” said Pat Nixon, Defense Commissary Agency chief executive officer. “But it’s more than that. It’s also a community event that gives neighbors a chance to have some fun, and it brings additional business and activity to the installations.”

The worldwide case lot sale has been staged in September since 2001. The event proved so popular that the sale was expanded in 2004 to twice each year – May and September.

Commissaries have flexibility in choosing which weekend during the designated month to hold their sale and nearly all of DeCA’s 273 commissaries participate.

For September a new feature is being added to the DeCA customer Web site. Shoppers can find out the dates for all case lot sales around the country by accessing the case lot sale link on the front page of www.commissaries.com

All commissaries and their tentative sale dates will be listed in the new section. Each store location will also have a direct link to the store’s “spotlighting” page where customers may find case lot sale hours for that particular store as the sale date gets a little closer. Many commissaries also list a sampling of items they plan on having at the sale.

Newport customers should check directly with the Commissary here before showing up since dates or product selection may change due to unforeseen circumstances such as inclement weather or occasional problems with product delivery. Store contact information and phone numbers can also be found on each commissary’s web page.

Military retirees near Army and Air Force installations should check the new case lot sale page at to see if their commissary is having its case lot sale during the weekend of Sept. 17 to 19. That will be a fun weekend for retirees near most Army and Air Force installation exchanges as they will be honored with special events during the annual “Still Serving” campaign.

Several thousand people crowded Dewey Field below the Naval War College last Friday night to bid farewell to summer with a free concert by Navy Band Northeast (NBNE), capped by a dazzling fireworks display.

Naval Station (NAVSTA) Newport and the Morale, Welfare and Recreation (MWR)

Department teamed to present a "Salute to Summer" with musical performances by three components of the regional band.

Master Chief Hospital Corpsman John Parkhurst, master of ceremonies and Naval War College command master chief, introduced Navy Band Northeast and several numbers. The concert is a traditional concluding highlight of the summer in Newport.

"We camp at the Middletown (Second Beach) campgrounds and come to all the concerts," said Loraine Benzinger, the wife of a retired Army corporal. "I enjoy them very much."

The evening opened with Rhode Island Sound, which played a contemporary music ensemble and was led by Musician First Class Stan Dunlap.

Next up was Island Breeze, a jazz and steel drum hybrid band, led by Musician Second Class Ricky Micou.

At 6 p.m. the Navy musicians took a break, and Radio Disney AM 550 put on a special program to entertain children with hula hoop and bouncy ball games.

Lt. Ray Penland, director, NBNE, with Musician Second Class Ryan Hudson, as assistant band director, led the main Concert Band in the final performance of the evening.

The band played a range of popular and classical music, and included a patriotic salute to America's veterans.

Musician First Class Steve Brown said the band was augmented with several guest civilian musicians from the area.

Retired Operations Specialist First Class Bob Haupt said, "it was a very interesting program (of music). It's great to see the general public get to come and enjoy it. I look forward to each event."

Contracted vendors supplemented MWR concessions with lemonade, cotton candy, soda and water, fried clams and giant hot dogs.

Around 9 p.m., Bay Fireworks of Huntington, N.Y., shot a dazzling display from a barge in Narragansett Bay. The pyrotechnics company most recently produced a display in Manhattan for the New York City 2004 Republican Host Committee.

Some concertgoers rated it the best show in Newport in years, better than when the liner Queen Mary 2 was in Newport Harbor for July 4th.

"It was just a phenomenal display; better than Disneyworld," NAVSTA Command Master Chief Bill Stoller said. "It built to what I thought was the finale, then tapered off, then rebuilt to a second crescendo. Some of the rockets just lit up the whole night sky."

The concert was the third of the summer. The first, celebrating Independence Day, was July 3 after a rain-out on July 2. It included a laser light show instead of fireworks, which had mixed reviews. Many in the crowd missed the sound and smell of the traditional pyrotechnics.

The second concert was on July 19 in tribute to Tall Ships Rhode Island 2004.

The main sponsor last weekend was Home Depot Supply, with co-sponsor Geico Direct, First Command Financial, and McLaughlin and Moran Distributors of Budweiser Beer.

GUITAR MAN— Chief Musician John Monillos plays a guitar solo with Island Breeze, which offers a jazz and Caribbean music blend.

Choristers seek new membership

It is not too late to join the Newport Navy Choristers for their 2004-2005 musical season.

The Choristers is a mixed singing group open to all active duty, reserve, retired military and civilian personnel and their spouses and family members over 16 years of age.

The Choristers have been performing to raise money for Newport area charities for over 50 years. Although experience is helpful, it is not necessary and auditions are required.

Rehearsals are Tuesday evenings at 6:15 p.m. in the Quinn Lecture Room at the Naval War College.

Deadline for new members is Sept. 21.

For more information, call Steve Larson, chairman, 848-6623, 847-4256 or musical director JoAnn Loewenthal at 423-3523.

Rommel outsails Rhodes

By SCOTT VILOUDAKI

Rhodes Class sailing publicist

ON NARRAGANSETT BAY—Herb Rommel saw his second win after completing against 12 boats during the Wednesday Night Rhodes 19 race series off Coasters Harbor Island, Sept. 1.

Sailing course P2 with a light south southwest wind, Mike Incze worked his way into the lead on the left side of the course.

But Rommel was rewarded for having kept to the right, as a wind shift to the right then put him ahead for the mark rounding.

The wind varied during the downwind run, sometimes favoring the inside, and sometimes the outside, and a large research vessel plowed through the midst of the fleet, affecting some with its wake.

Special teams effort lifts NAPS

By ENSIGN S. BRAZIER

NAPS Football Staff

The Naval Academy Prep School (NAPS) (2-0) football team pulled off a huge victory over a junior college powerhouse, Hudson Valley Community College, 31-13, last Saturday at Nimitz Field.

The play of NAPS special teams stood out significantly in this game, as the Rams' blocked kicks propelled the team to another successful effort.

"Hudson was a real power team and we knew we had to win the special teams game in order to win the game," Coach Clayton Kendrick-Holmes said.

"Naturally, I was extremely pleased with our special teams play, but I was also proud of the way the defense shut down such a powerful offense and how our offense took advantage of all the opportunities that the special teams set up for them."

In the first quarter, defensive back Ketric Buffin blocked the first of three punts for NAPS. After getting the ball with great field position, NAPS scored with a short run from running back Eric Yates.

As the second quarter progressed, a bad snap by the Hudson Valley punt team gave the Rams the ball on their 23 yard line. The drive ended with an 11-yard run by running back Karlos Whittaker.

Toward the end of the first half with NAPS ahead 14-0 on touchdowns scampers by Yates and Karlos Whittaker, defensive back Quentin Griffin blocked another punt for NAPS. Teammate Tyree Barnes ran it into the end zone.

At the end of the first half Hudson Valley scored on a long pass to wide receiver Ricky

Johnson. NAPS tallied a third blocked kick during Hudson's extra point attempt

During the visitors' opening drive in the second half, NAPS defensive back Buffin blocked his second punt of the game. That set up a touchdown run by running back Justin Guzman to put the Rams up 31-6.

NAPS offense was led by two fullbacks who combined for 141 yards rushing. Yates had 81 yards on 12 carries and Guzman had 60 yards on 15 carries.

On the defensive side of the ball, defensive backs Curtis Carr, Rashawn King and Buffin were standouts with four tackles each.

NAPS gets on the road to face Dean College in Franklin, Mass., on Saturday, Sept. 11.

The Rams next home game is on Parents Weekend, Oct. 9. The team's three-year home win streak will be on the line students completed three directed electives focused on advanced war planning for the 21st century. During their final three months, the students constructed and executed operational orders in crisis action scenarios, and developed concept plans based on their recent experiences.

The NOPC graduates received the master of arts degree in National Security and Strategic Studies, the Naval War College diploma, Joint Professional Military Education Phase I certification, and additional qualification designation as an operational planner.

The eight Navy graduates represent the aviation, intelligence, surface warfare, and special operations communities. The Army, Marine Corps, and Air Force graduates represent the air defense, aviation logistics, and bomber communities. Seven graduates will proceed directly to operational planning billets and five will accomplish warfare community progression tours followed by operational planning assignments.

USS Connecticut returns to Groton

GROTON, Conn. (NNS) — The Seawolf-class fast attack submarine USS Connecticut (SSN 22) returned home to Naval Submarine Base New London (SUBASE) Sept. 2 following nearly six months of deployment to the U.S. Central Command's operations area.

Connecticut departed SUBASE March 31 in support of the global war on terrorism as part of the USS Wasp Expeditionary Strike Group (ESG).

During its underway period, Connecticut made history with a number of "firsts" for the submarine force. It was the first Atlantic Coast submarine to deploy as part of the Navy's ESG concept. As an integral part of the Wasp ESG, Connecticut provided never before seen connectivity between a carrier strike group/expeditionary strike group and its submarine. It is also the first Seawolf-class SSN to successfully moor outboard of a surface ship while forward deployed, and Connecticut made a first submarine port visit to Seychelles.

Navy-wide news

The ESG centers on the flexibility and readiness of a combined expeditionary unit and an amphibious readiness group. The total ESG provides operational freedom and expanded warfare capabilities, not only by land with embarked Marines, but by sea, as well.

Dental Corps marks its 92nd

WASHINGTON (NNS) — The Navy Dental Corps celebrated its 92nd anniversary Aug. 22.

Rear Adm. Dennis D. Woofter, former chief of the Navy Dental Corps, was guest speaker at a commemorative ceremony at the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery Aug. 20.

He said the Dental Corps can be proud of its heritage, as well as its current commitment to patient care and operational readiness, citing the 37 active-duty Sailors and Reservists currently deployed to Iraq.

"We've earned our mark in the combat arena," said Woofter. "We have a proud heritage."

Today, more than 1,500 active-duty and Reserve Sailors are part of today's Navy Dental Corps, which supplies triage and support at Marine Battalion aid stations, as well as dental care for military members and their families at overseas locations.

Woofter also spoke about the current integration between the Medical and Dental Corps, which will unite the two areas of health care under the same leadership at naval medical centers and hospitals throughout the fleet. Woofter said the merger of medical and dental departments will be better for the Navy as a whole.

La. Sailor lifts record weight

NEW ORLEANS (NNS) — Navy Counselor First Class James Burdette attached to Patrol Squadron (VP) 94, set a new world record in the 181-pound weight class Aug. 14 with a bench press of 540 pounds. The record lift was made while he was competing in the American Powerlifting Association sanctioned Pan-handle Open in Mobile, Ala.

His meet winning lift in that category broke the previous record for that classification by 15 pounds.

*Average annual dollar savings are based upon survey of new policyholders who reported savings through USAA from May 28 to July 16, 2004, as compared to their previous carriers' rates. Savings may not be available in all locations or on all policies. Savings do not apply in Massachusetts or North Carolina. Property and casualty insurance products are provided by United Services Automobile Association, USAA Casualty Insurance Company, USAA General Indemnity Company, and USAA County Mutual Insurance Company. Applicants for USAA property and casualty insurance must meet group membership eligibility requirements before purchasing for the first time. All applications for property and casualty insurance are subject to underwriting. Some restrictions apply. Coverage descriptions are brief and subject to the terms and exclusions of the policy contracts. ©2004 USAA. All rights reserved. A3587-0704
